

Italian lawyer establishes Studio Inzaghi to focus on real estate

8 Jan 2024 16:14 GMT | by Alessia Pirolo

Milan-based law firm will work with local and international clients

- What Italian lawyer Guido Alberto Inzaghi has established Studio Inzaghi, a new law firm focusing on real estate
- Why To provide assistance to Italian and international clients on a wide range of real estate legal issues
- What next The firm aims to become the point of reference for investors in real estate transactions on the Italian market

Italian lawyer Guido Alberto Inzaghi has launched Studio Inzaghi, a Milan-based law firm to specialise in real estate.

Inzaghi was head of the Italian real estate department of the international firm DLA Piper until 2017 and then founding partner of Belvedere Inzaghi & Partners until the end of 2023.

He will be equity partner together with Silvia Gnocco and Ivana Magistrelli. The team of 25 professionals also includes three partners: Tommaso Fiorentino, Paolo Marensi and Carolina Romanelli. Professor Alfonso Celotto, full professor of constitutional law at the University of Roma Tre, will be of counsel.

Guido Alberto Inzaghi, Silvia Gnocco and Ivana Magistrelli

The newly established firm aims to provide assistance to Italian and international clients in real estate investment transactions, with a particular focus on urban planning, extraordinary purchase and sale operations, rentals and sale and lease back, environmental law and insolvency proceedings.

The team include members coming from Belvedere Inzaghi & Partners and has aggregated the firm of lawyer Paolo Marensi.

Professionals of Studio Inzaghi – SI have worked on transactions in the Milan area, including most recently Scalo di Porta Romana (Olympic Village), Milano Sesto – with Unione Zero – and Santa Giulia (Pala Italia).

Inzaghi said: “The objective of Studio Inzaghi is to become the point of reference for real estate investors in real estate transactions on the Italian market.”